

Seven Indian agents killed by Razakars

The "Al-Shams" wing of Razakars on Tuesday successfully carried out three missions in Mymensingh, Jessore and Chittagong, reports APP.

"Al-Shams" is a voluntary arm of "Razakars" trained by and working under the supervision of the Army.

In Mymensingh, they attacked a hide-out of Indian agents, south-east of Kishoreganj and recovered 2 sten guns, 9 rifles and 5 grenades. While recovering these arms, they encountered a band of Indian agents and killed three of them. Others fled away.

A report from Chittagong said that the "Al-Shams" following a clue provided by patriotic citizens, raided a private house at Hathazari, north of Chittagong and recovered a substantial quantity of subversive literature from there. They also apprehended the occupant of the house.

In Jessore, the "Al-Shams" clashed with Indian agents at Arpara, south-east of Jhenidah and killed four of them. One member of "Al-Shams" was also wounded.

After humiliating the Indian agents, the "Al-Shams" unearthed an arms and ammunition dump which the Indian agents were trying to defend. The "Al-Shams" recovered 13 rifles 24 shot guns, 108 mines and 60 pounds of explosives from the dump.
